For UNIX gurus there is Terminal, you can do everything in there with the command line interface.. Don't know how that happened, but I decided it either made an error or else it wasn't as intuitive as I thought and I caused the error by doing something wrong.. In either case I was unhappy For regular ftp chores I use Fugu: It is fast, reliable, easy to use, Leopard compatible, free, and I have never had the slightest problem with it.. There are several free and paid ftp utilities Built-in there is the Finder's ability to mount an ftp share, but as noted you can only download not upload.. If I can lay hands on a Mac, I'll keep digging, but by following the attached PDF, it looks like it tells you to switch to PCL and you lose a lot of functions according to the matrix. ae05505a44 Iskysoft Audio Recorder Serial
